Consistent Standards
Quality builders everywhere are looking for ways to improve their warranty management programs. In order to improve, you need to be able to measure your performance. HomSoft's technology and processes are designed to provide you with consistent, well-defined measurements. This gives you objective information about the service that you are providing to your customers. HomSoft also uses anonymous statistical comparisons to show you how you compare against other builders...in your city, in your price range, or across the country!

Customer Service Tools
In addition to managing your warranty process, HomSoft gives you the tools to provide your customers with a more valuable service. Through our alliance with Carol Smart and other industry-leading sources, we will provide on-line resources and access to educational materials for you and your staff. HomSoft also delivers a valuable resource to your homeowners, with links to a variety of websites that will provide them with help in improving and maintaining their home.
